

VISIT TO ORPHANAGE BY TE MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT

On 21st September 2013 students of third year mechanical department visit to orphanage “Adharthirtha Aadhar Ashram” Trimbak road, Nashik. The visit was organized as an initiative towards social development and awareness. This Ashram is privately owned and this was established by Mr. Trambakrao Shivajirao Gaikwad who is graduate engineer and was formerly personal assistant of minister Manohar Joshi and is now working as the whole and sole of this organization from last couple of years . Mr. Gaikwad took this initiative step of establishing when he saw the condition of poor farmers during his visit to drought prone areas like Vidharbha region. He established this Ashram for the wards of farmers who unfortunately committed suicide leaving their families back. Many honorable dignitaries including Raj Thakare(M.N.S chairman),Madhuri Dixit (famous bollywood actress),Nana Patekar(famous actor),Babanrao Pachpute(adivasi development minister)and others.

The students of Third year mechanical department contributed 50 Rs. each and donated a “science experiment box” which consisted apparatus for conducting experiments from 5th standard to 8th standard .also students as a part of contribution distributed biscuit packets and chocolates to all the children.

The children staying in the Ashram are those unfortunate children whose parents are no more in this world. It is being said that “when we grow our parents bring the whole world for our happiness” but for this children “they have to find the lamp of their happiness in this dark world” at this age. Here in this ashram there are 8 ladies who have lost their husbands facing struggle against the drought condition and increasing poverty. These women stay there itself and take care of all this children. According to survey info there are 152 children staying currently out of which there are students who are completing their S.S.C boards and 1 student is taking undergraduate degree of I.T.I Nashik. Third year students took great interest and collected used materials from their homes and donated in the Ashram. Shoes, clothes, notebooks and etc; was all donated.

“A single lamp of education can destroy the darkness of illiteracy” in the same manner Adharthirtha Adhar Ashram is enlighting lives of 152 children by providing them basic education upto std10th. Also at the same time the women who had no reason to live, the ashram had sown a seed of living the life and make it fruitful by helping these children and the trust of this ashram to develop this children.

Because ultimately children are the only back bone of developing nation. In this ashram there are in total 11 teachers who have devoted their lives for the helping this infants , helping them to live life, helping them to stand on their own feet to face and sustain the burden of this rich and unaffordable society.

This year government of India declared that 25000 children died due to malnutrition and there may be many more; with this scenario it is awakening call for all of us who have everything but still crying for some or the other thing that helping hands are required to help those needy who strive to be happy and find their happiness in the others happiness. “Droplets form the ocean” similarly students of third year mechanical have put forward a step for social awareness.

This activity was firmly supported by all the faculty members of mechanical department SITRC and was leaded by Prof. Anil S. Maheshwari (Dean Academic), Prof . Anil S. Dube (Associate Prof. Mechanical Dept), Prof. Dinesh R. Satpute (Assistant Prof.), Prof. Shivajirao D. Nandre(Assistant Prof. Mechanical Dept.) .
