Aim :

The aim of the Induction Program for first-year engineering students (academic year 23-24) was to provide a comprehensive introduction to the engineering discipline, foster a sense of belonging within the academic community, and equip students with essential skills and knowledge to excel in their academic journey.

Objective :

1. Orientation: Familiarize students with the campus, facilities, and academic resources.
2. Integration: Facilitate interaction between students, faculty, and seniors to create a supportive learning environment.
3. Skill Development: Develop essential skills such as communication, teamwork, and problem-solving.
4. Academic Awareness: Provide an overview of the engineering curriculum, highlighting key subjects and career prospects.
5. Motivation: Inspire students to pursue engineering with passion and dedication.

Outcomes :

- Increased Understanding: Students gained a comprehensive understanding of the engineering discipline, its branches, and the real-world applications of engineering principles.
- Improved Communication Skills: Through various interactive sessions, students enhanced their communication skills, enabling them to express ideas effectively.
- Team Building: Engaging team-building activities helped students develop teamwork and collaboration skills, essential for project work and future professional environments.

- Academic Preparedness: First-year students were introduced to the core subjects of engineering, ensuring they had a clear understanding of what to expect in their academic journey.
- Confidence Boost: Interactive workshops and presentations boosted students' confidence, making them feel more prepared for the challenges of the engineering curriculum.
- Networking: Students had the opportunity to interact with seniors, faculty, and industry professionals, expanding their professional network and gaining insights into the engineering industry.
- Sense of Belonging: The program created a sense of belonging among students, making them feel a part of the university community and motivating them to actively participate in campus activities.
